“Lord, protect me from my friends; I can take care of my enemies.” – Voltaire

Good cybersecurity means constantly developing and implementing a cybersecurity skillset where one protects oneself and others from the threats that exist in the physical and virtual realm. It means emulating those security professionals who held themselves to high standards, manifested a spirit of graciousness, and helped me become who I am today. Good cybersecurity professionals recognize their moral and legal responsibility to make good on their part of the implicit covenant with the public and the explicit covenant between themselves and their organization and clients that entrusted one with their data.

I am a detail-oriented, self-driven, extremely dedicated individual with keen problem-solving skills seeking a cybersecurity analyst position that draws not only from my technical skills I developed as a Full Stack Developer but from my critical thinking and interpersonal skills I cultivated as an Adjunct Instructor. I aim to actualize my drive and cybersecurity skillset in a challenging but rewarding career.
